OpenLearn | Free learning from The Open University

The Open University

Statement of participation

Guest user

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Social care in the community

This 3-hour free course, Social care in the community, focused on one important area of social care: home care for older people.

Issue date: 14 March 2022

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care-the-community/content-section-0

COURSE CODE: K101_2

Social care in the community

https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care-the-community/content-section-0

Course summary

Social care involves the challenge of supporting people who, for a variety of reasons, are unable to function without assistance or supervision. This free course, Social care in the community, focuses on one important area of social care, home care for older people.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- understand the variety of caring activity within the UK for older people in the home
- describe care situations for older people in the home objectively
- identify aspects of care relationships which conform to principles of good care practice.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

Entering the world of social care

Section 2

Home care: workers and users