OpenLearn | Free learning from The Open University

The Open University

Statement of participation

Guest user

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Managing local practices in global contexts

This 20-hour free course examined the dimensions of globalisation and the processes that connect people together.

Issue date: 14 March 2022

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
https://www.open.edu/openlearn/money-business/business-strategy-studies/managing-local-practices-global-contexts/content-section-0

COURSE CODE: B823_1

OpenLearn | Free learning from The Open University

The Open University

Managing local practices in global contexts

https://www.open.edu/openlearn/money-business/business-strategy-studies/managing-local-practices-global-contexts/content-section-0

Course summary

Please note: this course will be closing on 11 May 2022. After this date, you will no longer be able to study the course but if you've already gained your cerficate this will continue to display in your learner profile. It is hard to think of a part of the world that has not been touched by globalisation. From 'Big Macs' in Moscow to Blockbuster video in Beijing, the world seems less distant, and 24-hour-a-day news makes foreign places more familiar. This free course, Managing local practices in global contexts, examines the dimensions of globalisation and the processes that connect people together.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- think critically about and be able to comment on processes by which local practices are situated within their wider contexts
- think critically about and be able to comment on dimensions of globalisation
- think critically about and be able to comment on the nature and significance of institutional rules of practice
- think critically about and be able to comment on some differences between managing knowledge-generating practices in Anglo-American, Japanese and Chinese contexts
- think critically about and be able to comment on implications of managing through multiple rationalities.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

The management of local knowledge-generating practices

Section 2

The dimensions of globalisation

Section 3

Institutional rules of practice

Section 4

Rational solutions

Section 5

Postmodern rationalities

Section 6

Conclusion