OpenLearn | Free learning from The Open University

The Open University

Statement of participation

Guest user

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Understanding narratives in health care

This 5-hour free course explored how to identify narratives in health care, by patients, relatives and practitioners, to inform health care practice.

Issue date: 14 March 2022

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/health/understanding-narratives-health-care/content-section-0

COURSE CODE: K829_1

OpenLearn | Free learning from The Open University

The Open University

Understanding narratives in health care

https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/health/understanding-narratives-health-care/content-section-0

Course summary

This banner says: 'This course is closing soon. Please see the Course description page for more details.' What are the ways in which others (patients, relatives, practitioners) and you create and share meanings within health care? Narratives are the stories used by individuals to make sense of events. In this free course, Understanding narratives in health care, you are guided on how to identify narratives, those that might either support or undermine health care practice.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- define what is meant by a narrative and how that may differ from an account of healthcare experience
- begin exploration of narratives – those that are relevant in local practice, those of patients/clients and of healthcare practitioners.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

What is a narrative?

Section 2

Identifying others' narratives

Section 3

Identifying your narratives

Section 4

Examining narratives

Section 5

Comparing narratives