

Statement of participation

Guest user

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Beginners' French: food and drink

This 5-hour free course explored food and drink in France, to support the development of speaking and reading skills in French.

Issue date: 14 March 2022

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/languages/french/beginners-french-food-and-drink/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: L192_2

Beginners' French: food and drink

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/languages/french/beginners-french-food-and-drink/content-section-0>

Course summary

Improve your language skills by learning to communicate more easily and effectively in French. In this free course, Beginners' French: food and drink, you will also gain an insight into French societies and cultures through focusing on food and drink. You will listen to French speakers in a variety of situations, and you will be provided with some skills for coping with reading texts.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- express likes and dislikes in relation to food and drink
- order food and drinks, and take part in simple exchanges
- pay restaurant or café bills
- demonstrate a better understanding of some food-related customs in France
- know how to approach reading longer texts

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

Food in France

Section 2

Eating out in France

Section 3

Talking about eating habits

Section 4

Pronouncing the sounds [s] and [z]