

Example 2: 'Sharma's Present'

Sharma's present

There was a teacher named Sharma. He lived in a village named Sripur.

All the children came to school every day at 9 o'clock. But Sharma was always late.

Sharma never woke up on time. He ran to school every morning. The children near his house came out and laughed.

But Sharma's students had to wait for their teacher every day, so they felt sad.

They thought of a plan to help their teacher to wake up early. The children decided to give their teacher a present.

Sharma was very happy to get a present from his students. But what was the present? It was a cock.

Sharma named the cock Ramu.
Ramu crowed loudly at sunrise every day. Sharma was able to get up on time.

Both the children and Sharma were very happy.