

OpenLearn: LearningSpace video transcript

ETHICS_1: Ethics

John Monk: Ethics

John Monk

Train operators wish to have radio communication with trains.

They'll put up antennas along the track.

Should they put up tall masts and create big visual intrusions, or many smaller masts to create lots of minor intrusions?

Or even a few short masts with more power and risk generating fear of radiation hazards?

The Open University

The Open University