So, you want to work in esports – What do you see as the future of your industry?

LEYLA SABET:

I can only see the Esports industry growing in the future. Next years game prize pool in Riyadh is already set at 75 million dollars. Esports is also being introduced in the Olympics, which shows how much potential there is. And then there's AI, which is going to change the industry in ways that we're only just starting to imagine. I'm really excited, actually, to see what the future brings.
