

THE MUSIC TEACHER

Focus: Motivating Pupils

Synopsis

The children in Florence's class are excited. They have been told a special music teacher will be coming to the class to teach the different types of music in Africa after the break period. They all stand up respectfully as the teacher comes in. Ejike comes in carrying his CD player and assorted types of music CDs in his wheel barrow. The pupils wonder what he is doing. Florence tells them Ejike is the music teacher they have been expecting, since his profession was selling music. The children are shocked.

Florence then announces that pupils would be taking turns henceforth to teach the class on their favourite topic. She asks who would like to be the next teacher. All the children clamour to be chosen.