Focus: Dealing with Sensitive Issues

Synopsis

Munira and Adjua are playing. Munira invites Adjua for her little sister Rasheeda's birthday party. Adjua is the last in the family and wishes she would get a baby. They discuss where babies come from, both offering several different theories. They decide to go and ask their mothers. First, Adjua's mother, after some hesitation, tells them babies come from God. Then Munira's mother, tells them about how daddy and mummy express love for each other and how it results in a baby after nine months. Both children meet later and are confused as to whose version to believe.
