

THE TOWN MEETING

Focus: Active Learning

Synopsis

Ezekiel wants to host Umueze town's meeting but his children's noise makes the meeting impossible.

Ezekiel is hosting members of his town union to discuss a matter of urgent community importance. However, his two children and their friends are very noisy making it impossible for them to hear themselves. This angers him and he grabs hold of his cane and goes in search of the children to beat them to silence. Njideka, the new maid from the village, stops him and promises to quieten them for him. He eventually agrees to her suggestion. He goes back to his meeting and to his surprise, the children's noise has stopped. As he sees off the members after the meeting, he sees the children listening with rapt attention to Njideka's story. He cannot believe that a mere story was responsible for the calm in his house!
