

SPEAKER 1:

Collaborative leadership is shared leadership, leadership that's driven and maintained between groups in the same organisation or between people across organisations. In this free course, you'll learn about and develop your collaborative leadership with a particular focus on practice in voluntary sector organisations. We'll be addressing the kinds of challenges you face in your every day work, as well as some of the bigger, strategic issues for the sector, and we make sure that there are plenty of practical, useful ideas throughout the course.

Our hope is that we can build a real community of learning within the voluntary sector, and by completing the course you can gain a free digital badge to share your learning with others. So whether you're a volunteer, a trustee, a manager, a chief executive, or even someone who simply works a lot with volunteer organisations, this course was designed with you in mind to build strong, collaborative leadership between interesting groups and people.
