

6. Where is Anooona?

Talk about these questions.

- Do you know where Anooona is?
- Have you ever been to a big city?
- Would you like to go to a big city? What would you do there?

Read Anooona's phone messages to her friend Patience. What part of Harare is Anooona in?

Anooona: Hi Patience. I'm in Harare. It's great!

Patience: Wow! Are you in the city centre?

Anooona: Yes, I am. There are lots of big buildings, and it's very busy.

Patience: What are you doing now?

Anooona: I'm sending you these messages! I'm in a little park right in the centre of the city. It's called Africa Unity Square. It's a lovely place!

Read part of a visitor's guide to Harare, and answer the questions.

Harare is a big, busy, noisy city, but you can find plenty of quiet places to relax.

Africa Unity Square

A peaceful garden with a fountain right in the centre of Harare. You can buy flowers here from one of the many flower sellers.

Harare Gardens

A large park behind the National Gallery of Zimbabwe. There is a children's playground and a restaurant. There are often wedding parties here.

National Botanic Gardens

A beautiful garden with trees and plants from Zimbabwe and all around the world.

1. Where can you see plants from other countries?
2. Where can children play?
3. Where can you buy a bunch of flowers?
4. Where can you have lunch in a restaurant?
5. Where can you see water?

Here are some more places in a city. What can you do in each one?

bank ● university ● cinema ● theatre ● supermarket hotel ● hospital ● government offices

The map shows the four biggest cities of Zimbabwe. What do you know about each one?
